

EBEC 2010 now open for exhibitor bookings

In its 5th year, EBEC continues to be the largest dedicated Bioenergy event of its kind, showcasing all the latest product innovations and services for this dynamic market, attracting influential International and UK visitors.

It also hosts, exclusively, the REA's annual Bioenergy Conference. The show has grown 43% year on year in 2009, with the same level of growth expected for 2010.

But don't just take our word for it, read what exhibitors say overleaf.

What exhibitors said about EBEC 2009

'We found the event to be well attended and was an excellent opportunity to network with new and future customers.'

Alex Marshall, Clarke Energy

'Excellent! Well received by visitors to our stand. They had been able to gather good information and meet many suppliers.'

Chris Dakin, Gas Data

'This year's EBEC was a well executed event. The quality of exhibitors and visitors was high and I am sure we will have generated sales from being there. It was great to have all of the regulatory bodies onsite to provide a one-stop-shop for finding out how to produce biodiesel safely and in compliance.'

James Hygate, Green Fuels

'Combining the REA event with EBEC worked well. We had some very good leads. Well organized. Well done.'

Glyn Edwards, Black & Veatch

'The exhibition proved highly successful for CERAM and provided the perfect opportunity to network with both new and existing customers. The show also allowed for first-hand discussions with a wide range of visitors and exhibitors around industry news, future products and services.'

Rob Mitchell, CERAM

'Successful show for Motherwell Bridge.'

Martin Glendinning, Motherwell Bridge

'Good event. Like the venue and will come back.'

Tom Burniston, Geotech

'For us, EBEC is undoubtedly the showcase exhibition of the year. A large amount of business is generated at the show each year'

Mike Benzies, Filtertechnik
